

Postdoc position

IRC-Membranes and Water Security

The Interdisciplinary research center for membranes and water security at King Fahd University of Petroleum and Minerals (Saudi Arabia) is seeking candidates for a postdoctoral position in Membrane science and technology. We are seeking applications from individuals with a Ph.D. in Chemistry, polymers, Material science or any related field having a good track record of publications in membrane synthesis, characterization and membrane separation processes.

The successful candidate is expected to take personal initiative to structure tasks to meet project objectives and author publications. The candidate is also be expected to mentor students and assist in proposal development.